

Create Your Own Sacred Space or War Room

Sometimes, you just need to shut the rest of the world out in order to cut the distractions and foster a regular, meaningful quiet time with God.

A great way to do that is to create your own “Sacred Space” or “War Room”, which is inspired by the wonderful movie “War Room”, available to borrow for free at your local library. Find a private corner of your home or bedroom (such as your closet, or even just a part of your closet). Create within that nook a spot just for you.

You can do the following to make it your own and even more meaningful:

- Some large throw pillows to sit on

- A small table to place your Bible

- Small lamp or fairy lights for a cozy light

- Scarf or fabric to hang on one side of wall

- Your Bible

- Prayers and/or Bible verses on cards to post on your wall

- A cross

- Personal prayer journal (pick up some great ideas and free downloads at <https://www.pinterest.com/aks03/teen-prayer-journal/>)

- Prayer or devotional book

- Other meaningful objects (such as a rock, photo, statue, or anything that reminds you of God’s presence in your life)
